Course Description

This Flexible Learning course is designed to survey topics that are vital for an understanding of American national politics and government. Readings and videos will examine the structural foundations, institutions, citizen-government linkages, and processes that characterize the American political system.

Purpose of Course

To provide students with a critical understanding of the processes and institutions that characterize American national government. Information gained will enhance students' ability to take part in the political process and make normative judgments about the American political system.

Course Objectives

- Identify the processes that characterize the American political system, including voting, elections, representative institutions (Congress, Presidency, Courts), and structural components such as federalism

- Interpret competing accounts of the Founders’ intent in designing the national government
- Examine interpretations of the Constitution, governmental power, and protections of individual freedoms
- Research, analyze and explain the importance of a major national policy
- Construct a policy proposal to be sent to members of Congress
- Evaluate democratic processes to take part in the American political system
- Critique and defend theoretical and empirical approaches to explaining the dynamics of American national government by engaging fellow students in civic debate
- Illustrate a superlative knowledge of processes and institutional features of the national government necessary for advanced study of politics and/or careers in journalism

Teaching Philosophy

The online teaching environment is challenging for both students and faculty. I endeavor to balance recorded videos alongside PowerPoint slides with weekly readings to facilitate a better understanding of the topics relating to American politics. Online videos are also included to furnish a more in-depth comprehension of topics ranging from the Founding of the American Republic to civil rights and elections. Students are asked to evaluate debates about American politics from a reader, and post commentaries to enhance their ability to objectively assess contemporary controversies.

COURSE POLICIES

Performance Policy

This Flexible Learning course has been developed with the same rigorous standards of content as a campus course. Expectations for your performance as a Flexible Learning student are as high as they would be if you were taking this course in a classroom.

Attendance/Participation Policy

Students are required to participate in all course activities and submit all assignments posted on the website.

Quiz/Exam Policy

Weekly quizzes are to be undertaken without notes/readings/access to the Internet. The three exams for the course (Constitution Exam, Mid-Term Exam, and Final Exam) require online proctoring by ProctorU. Details on signing up for the ProctorU service are available on the Canvas page. All exams are closed book, closed note, no aids. No online exams are given early or later than the date for which they are scheduled.

Assignment Policy

All assignments must be completed at least 2 weeks before the course expires. The course expires 16 weeks after your enrollment. Complete all modules in the order they are presented on the course website; do not skip modules.

Technology Requirements

Students must use their Gatorlink email account for this course. Students are recommended to check their email account DAILY for the duration of the course. Access to and on-going use of a computer with Internet access is required for all students. Competency in the basic use of a computer is required. At times, computers crash and Internet connections fail. It is in your best interest NOT to wait until the last minute to complete assignments.

Course Deadline and Extension Policy

Students are allowed 16 weeks, from their date of enrollment, to complete and submit their coursework. If the student has not submitted at least 50% of their coursework and have an extenuating circumstance preventing them from submitting the coursework, a failing grade of "E", "E0" or "E1" will be issued and recorded to the UF Registrar.

If the student has made sufficient academic progress, which is defined as completing and submitting at least 50% of the coursework and have an extenuating circumstance, the student may petition the instructor for a course extension before the course expires. Each course extension request will be administratively evaluated. Instructors are not required to allow extensions. If a student does receive an extension, an incomplete grade of an "I" will be assigned as an interim grade. When the course is completed, the instructor will initiate the change of grade. After that, the "I" grade will be changed to the student's final course grade on their transcript.

Tuition Refund Policy

A tuition refund will be granted after a Flexible Learning student submits a written request to cancel their course within 30 days of enrollment. Refund requests may be made by fax, e-mail, or U.S. mail. All requests will receive a written response in the form of a detailed receipt. A refund is issued on course materials at the time of cancellation if they are returned within 30 days of sale and are in their original condition. No refunds are granted after 30 days. If a credit card was used to pay for tuition, the refund will be in the form of credit to that card.
